

AMERICAN ROSE SOCIETY

Nursery Guide

*Prepared by Gene Waering
& The ARS Marketing Committee*

THIS IS THE 12TH ANNUAL INSTALLMENT of the Nursery Guide, which first appeared in American Rose in 2006. The 2017 Nursery Guide contains fewer nurseries than the 2016 Guide. Pickering Nurseries, whose rose operations were suspended two years ago, announced this last spring that it has permanently closed. Spring Valley Nursery has also closed. Others: Country Care Roses, Heaven Sent Roses, North Creek Farm, Roseglen — have either suspended rose operations or are in some indeterminate state as of this report. Trends we have noted over the past year continue: nursery websites have become ever more elaborate and eye-catching. Lists, however, continue to diminish.

SOME BASICS: The guide is modeled on the popular Art in America Annual Guide to Galleries, which is to say we editors try to include all bonafide U.S. rose nurseries in the listing — and selected Canadian nurseries as well — excluding local garden centers and small, regional “pick up” nurseries for the most part. Nurseries that advertise in American Rose are recognized by having their listing in boldface. Nurseries that offer discounts to ARS members through the members benefit program are also recognized by having their names appear in CAPITAL LETTERS. The listing itself is free to all rose nurseries and part of ARS service to both the rose nurseries and our members.
